Cerumen Management Course

Phonak Australia invites you to participate in our one day Cerumen Management Course. This course will be held quarterly in our offices at Norwest, Sydney. The coursework consists of both theory and supervised practical work.

The aims of the course are:

- To provide a theoretical basis for safe ear canal management, including cerumen extraction.
- To introduce various cerumen management techniques under supervision (mechanical removal and micro-suction), with emphasis on mechanical removal using a microscope or Voroscope.
- To make clinicians aware of ethical issues including informed consent and infection control.
- To discuss the advantages and disadvantages of all cerumen management techniques, and when to use which technique depending on cerumen type and blockage.

The cost of the course is $375.00 for members of Audiology Australia.

- The cost of the course can be deducted from any Cerumen Management equipment and tools purchased.
- Participant numbers are strictly limited so early registration along with prior payment is encouraged.
